

Golden Age

Part III

By Ciarán Handley

14th September 2018

The Road to Taoiseach

Chapter 1

It's really simple. If Golden Age fails then humanity falls

Governments have done everything in their power to block me, to steal or block my knowledge, to assassinate me, to destroy me financially, to compromise me. Golden Age failed but there is still a window to launch something, albeit at a lower level.

I am the only one with the knowledge to trigger Golden Age. I am the only one with the knowledge to trigger Ascension. I am the only one with the knowledge to defeat the Borg. I am John Connor. Governments have been trying to kill me for years.

*If I fall, Golden Age falls.
Which means that humanity falls.*

Governments have put me in a position of being extremely compromised. I'm that close to going over the edge. Which means that humanity is on the brink of annihilation. Over the smallness, pettiness and close-mindedness of lesser men.

I will say something else too. If we lose the Irish language, we lose the war against the Borg.

It is that simple.

"Africa" le Toto as Gaeilge

Golden Age

End of Part III