

Guardians of the Galaxy

Part I

By Ciarán Handley

29th November 2018

Guardians of the Galaxy Chapter 1

As John Connor and the leader of the Resistance, I am the most wanted person in the Galaxy

Because of the war I lead against the Borg. The viruses I have released via the neural interface to the Borg Networks have devastated much of the Borg infrastructure and killed countless Small Greys and other species of the Empire.

Up until earlier this year I was the only combat-capable member of the Resistance on Earth. Of the other Resistance members, some are non-human. The others are all abductees who have spent time in Borg prison camps.

I am the most wanted person in the Galaxy because of the war I rage against the Borg. This is true. Liam is number four. The fourth most wanted person in the Galaxy.

Liam too is Irish. He too follows a long tradition of Irish people who have excelled at Resistance.

Liam was abducted a number of years ago. We have not met but we have been speaking pretty much on a daily basis for years. Liam was the first Resistance member that I encountered and trained. I introduce him again now as Resistance.

This clip I give now actually happened to Liam. The essence of it happened. It is part of Liam's story. Liam made it back to Earth a number of months ago after five years of attempted jail-breaks along with about two hundred other Resistance fighters. They came back through a Stargate that I hacked and are currently in a safe-house in Ireland. More recently they have been joined by a few hundred others who have also been freed.

Let us meet Liam.

Guardians of the Galaxy Clip: Opening Scene

Guardians of the Galaxy

End of Part I