Launching my Political Party

Chapter 1

The Party will come together

When any new team comes together it does take a little time. People may lack confidence. May believe that they cannot do it. May believe that they cannot become Jedi. That they cannot learn the Ways of the Force. Or learn Irish.

It can take time for a new group to get some cohesion.

There will be challenges. Challenges that may seem insurmountable.

But I believe we will come together. We may have a few glitches, but I believe we can be that team.
